Way To Go Chargers!

Charger fever was rampant on the UNH campus and across the state as the Chargers finished the regular season with a perfect 10-0 record. Their success garnered them the mythical Connecticut State title with wins over Central Connecticut, Southern Connecticut, and the University of Connecticut as well as the New England Division II title with victories over Southern and Central Connecticut, Springfield and American International College. But, the most impressive title was the NCAA Regional championship, a designation which is bestowed upon only four teams in the nation.

Dr. Lawrence J. DeNardis, UNH President

To the Members of the Class of 1993:

When you receive your degrees from the University of New Haven this year, you will mark yet another milestone in the course of your lives. Congratulations! You have worked hard to earn your degrees, and your studies have prepared you to take your place in society.

Know, too, that your final year has been part of a very special time in the University's history. Among the accomplishments we share are increased commitment to our students first philosophy and strides toward addressing globalization efforts. A new school of Public Safety and Professional Studies was formed to consolidate the University's many respected specialty programs. The University also announced plans to develop three new academic programs in the health and education areas.

We have successfully expanded our outreach on the international front by welcoming a sizeable number of students from Israel, Russia and Asia. This was also the year we took a major step in preparing for the establishment of a permanent campus for our Southeastern Connecticut branch.

As students, you have contributed significantly to UNH. As you make your mark in the world, know that I wish each of you the very best and the University shares in your pride at this important and auspicious moment.

Sincerely, Lawrence J. DeNardis

Jason Mumbach, DSG President

To the Class of 1993:

We have all grown in different ways over the past few years. It is now our time to go out into the "real world." Into this world we will bring the knowledge that we have gained at the University of New Haven. For many of us it will be the knowledge of schoolbooks and classrooms, for others it may be knowledge of student clubs and organizations, and still for others it may be knowledge of fellow students and friends. Whatever it may be that each one of us will contribute to the "real world" it will be unique because our experiences here in the little world of the University of New Haven.

Jason C. Mumbach
Day Student Government President

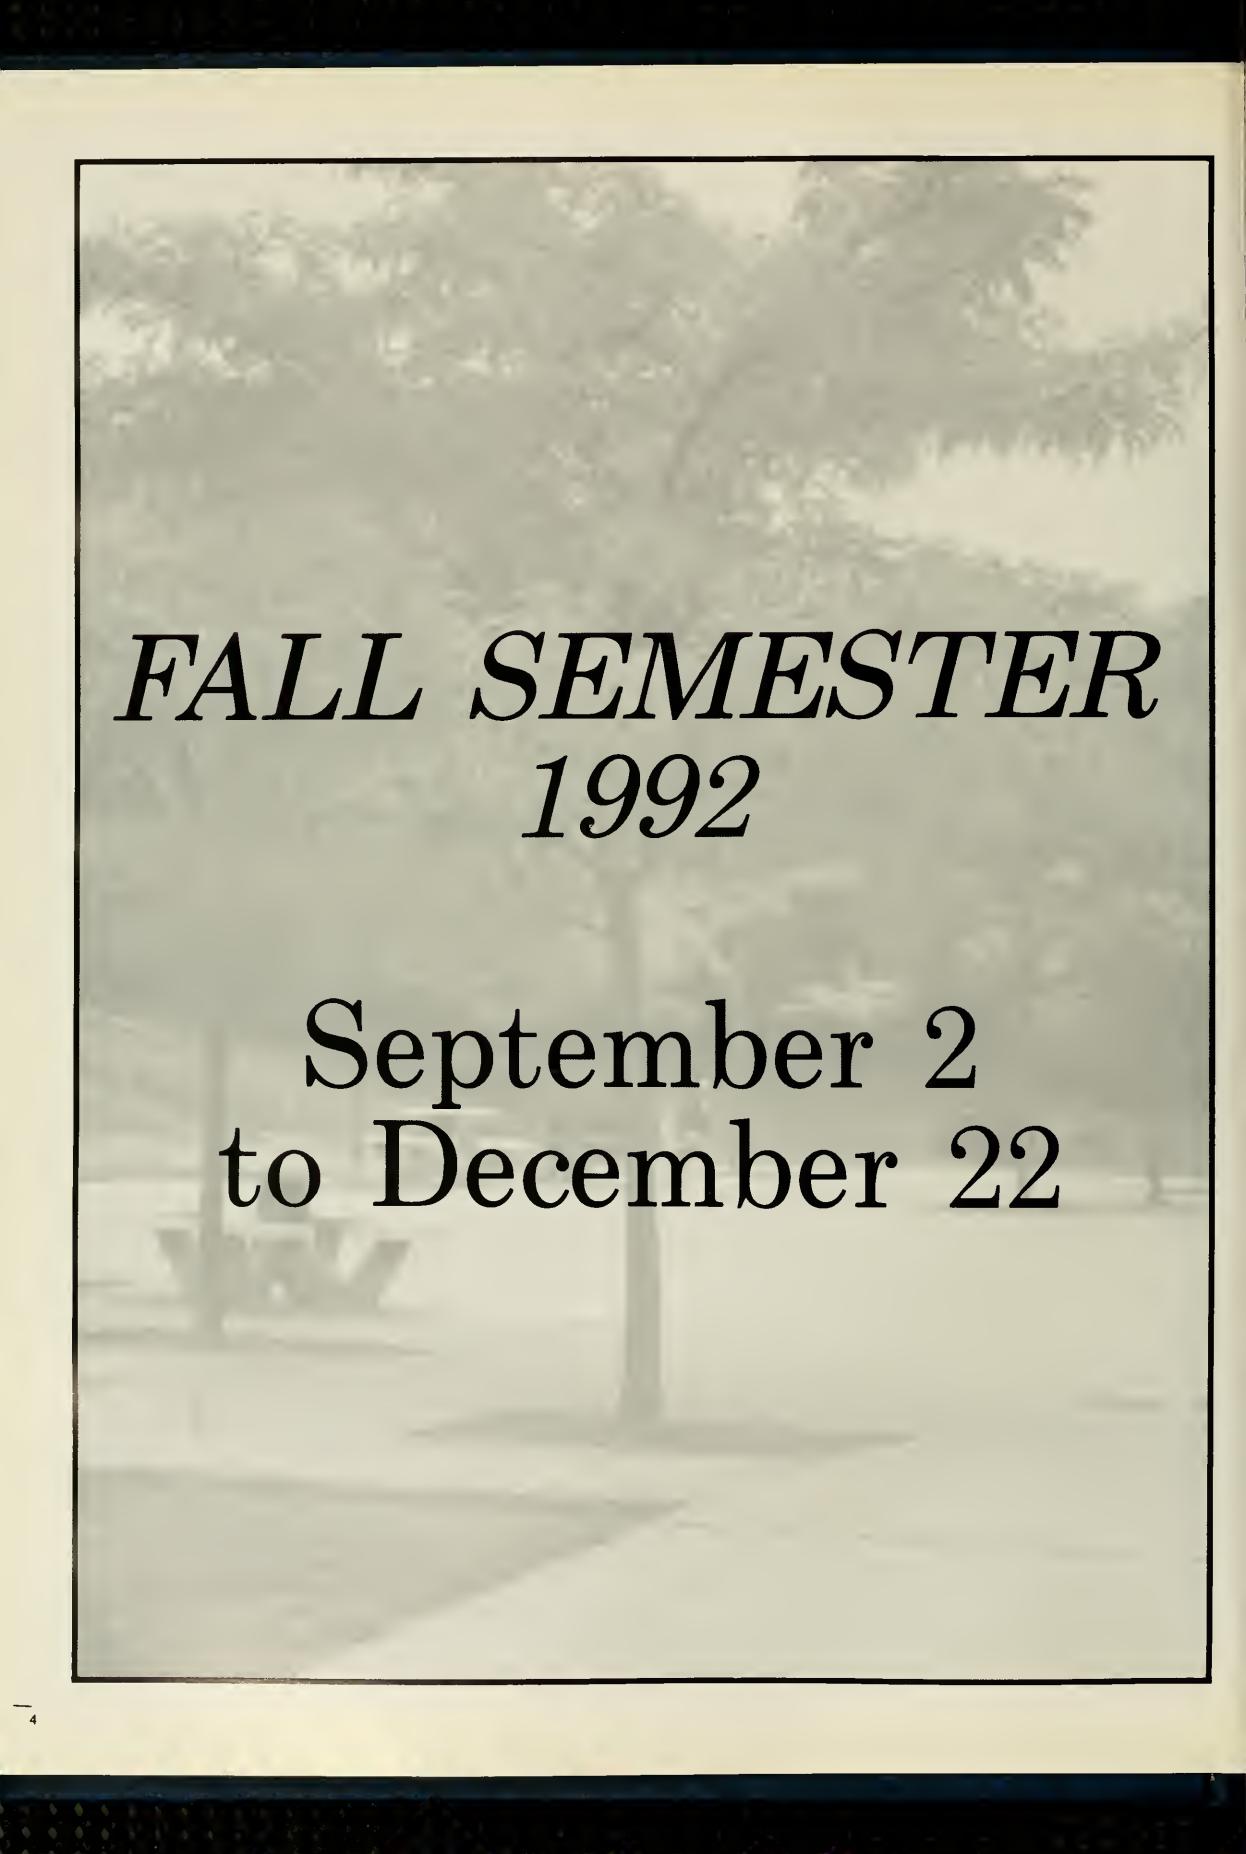

Philosophy

The university embraces the philosophy that personal and academic freedom must be preserved and recognizes that the exercise of individual rights must be accompanied by an equal responsibility to assure that the same rights are not denied others. By accepting membership in the community, a student acquires the rights as well as the responsibilities of that community.

Issues 1992

Four white L.A. Police Officers were charged with beating black motorist Rodney King. When a jury found the officers innocent of any wrong-doing, three days of rioting hit Los Angeles. When the rioting ended 52 were dead, 2,383 were injured, 18,807 were arrested, and the amount of property damage was estimated at $785 million.

America needs to recycle. America needs to use recycled products. Recycling has produced vast supplies of paper, glass and other reusable trash, but not enough demand.

The Environmental Protection Agency issued rules aimed at curbing industrial pollution. The act requires business to meet new clean air requirements by reducing toxic emissions.

Clear cutting was one way of clearing timber that environmentalists wanted to eliminate in 1992 and 1993. Environmental groups want to protect the sanctuary for many threatened species.

Hundreds Turn Out to See the Chargers Clobber AIC, 66-7

A crowd, about 2,000 strong, was high spirited on the day filled with festivities. The excitement of fans carrying UNH beer mugs, blowing UNH kazoos, and wearing "Road To Alabama" T-shirts seemed to carry over to Dodd's Field were The Chargers trounced upon American International College's Yellowjackets. Spirits were high during the day-long event which included tailgaiting, a float and banner parade, the unveiling of the Homecoming court, and a special pre-game party at the Olympic Heights Residence Hall.

Fall Rush

September 14-25

The University of New Haven has a Greek system made up of four fraternities and three sororities. These groups are intended to enhance the college experience by providing an atmosphere of friendship, academic support, and a sense of community responsibility. Fall Rush is the time in the fall semester when these groups invite new members to join their organizations. Not all of the groups participate in this activity, but the ones that do set up tables in the student center, plan activities on and off campus, and actively recruit students to join their brother or sisterhood.

TOP RIGHT: Delta Sigma Alpha Fraternity hung their banner on the front of the student center this year in order to make their letters more visible.

SPORTS

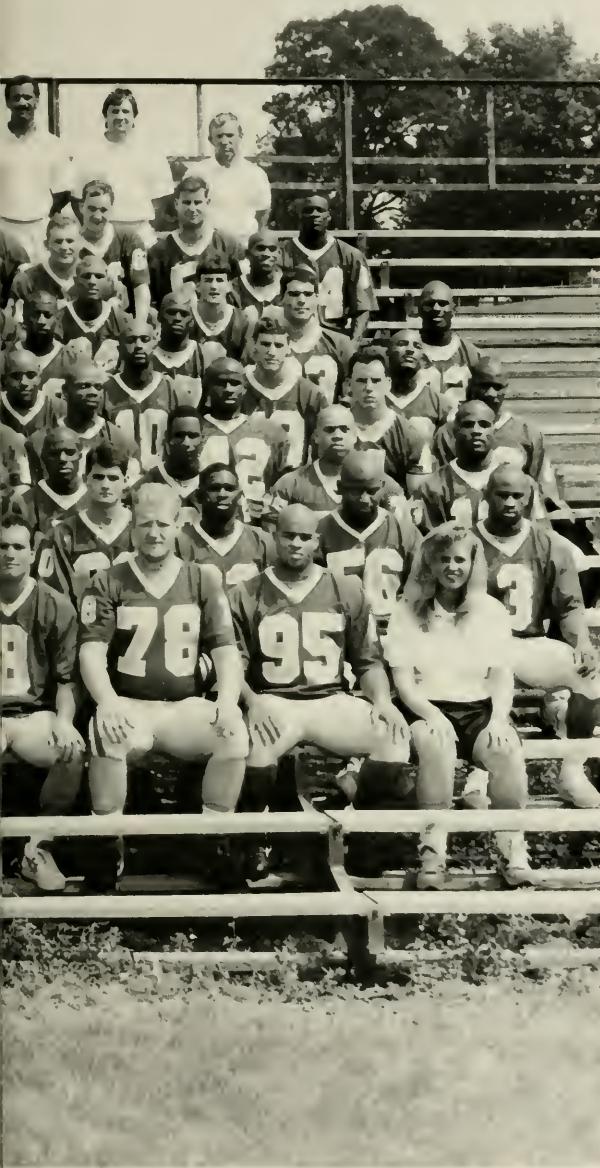

Recapping the Chargers' regular season, they beat Division 1 AA opponent Connecticut 14-13, Buffalo 69-48, Clarion 48-47, Virginia Union 80-26, CCSU 55-21, AIC 66-7, SCSU 56-13, Springfield College 54-6, Carson-Newman 14-0 and Shepard College 49-23.

In the latest poll, the Chargers are ranked 5th in the nation for NCAA Division II. New Haven received their first post-season bid for the play-offs and is, in fact, the first team ever to make the play-offs from the New England region. The Chargers will play in Pennsylvania on Saturday, November 21, against Westchester College.

New Haven Lacrosse Sets School Record

The Chargers rebounded from a 6-8 season in 1992 to a 10-4 campaign this year. The 10 wins represent the most in school history.

The Chargers turnaround can be traced back to several sources, but primarily to John Raba. Raba was not eligible to play lacrosse until this season because the program was Division III and Raba received a scholarship as a Division II football player. Because the NCAA reformed Division II lacrosse this season, Raba was able to take the field for the Chargers and responded with one of the best seasons in school history. He led Division II in scoring with 53 goals and 25 assists. Raba scored four or more goals in eight games, tallied at least one goal in each contest, and scored a career-high seven goals against Vassar.

In addition to Raba, the Chargers had two other potent scorers in junior Rick Bryant and senior Joachim Fiebich. Bryant, who entered the 1993 season with 100 career points, scored more this year (40 goals, 17 assists) while Fiebich notched 53 points (26 goals, 17 assists). New Haven also received help from veterans Brett Jeffaires, who scored 14 goals and 16 assists; Brian VanNess, who recorded 12 goals nine assists; and newcomer Ryan Kruzar who tallied 16 goals and two assists.

This group of seven players tallied 270 of the team's 272 points (176 goals, 94 assists). The defense also played effectively this season, anchored by goalie Luis Rodriguez. The junior posted 186 saves and allowed 152 goals for a .550 save percentage and an 11.49 goals against average. Chris Greene helped out in goal, playing 53 minutes this year, allowing nine goals and making 16 saves. Rodriguez and Greene received assistance from defenders Dill Jameson, Bill Covert, Shawn O'Connor, Pat Smith and Will Parker.

Under Head Coach Anthony LoRicco, New Haven posted its most successful season ever and just missed earning a spot in the ECAC tournament.

The Day Student Government Programming Board is a group of student volunteers who work together to solicit acts to come and perform on the UNH campus. During the 1992-1993 academic year they were responsible for bringing hundreds of acts to the campus. From comedians and bands to psychics, hypnotists and lectureers the programming board could always be counted on for extra-curricular amusement.

I.S.A. Banquet

April 17, 1993

Where can you have your photo taken in a Middle Eastern sultan's tent, have your palm read, or have your name painted by a Chinese calligrapher without having to book a flight with your local travel agent? Just ask any of the 450 plus people who came to the University's 13th Annual International Festival held April 17.

Lisa Carraretto, director of international student services, says the affair has grown so popular that the location was moved to the gym this year to accomodate the crowd. She estimates nearly 15 countries were represented at the gala event that included international displays, food, a fashion show and entertainment. The activities are coordinated by her office in conjunction with the university's International Student Association.

This year, the Middle Eastern display proved to be the most popular, as attendees lined up to don traditional garb replete with turbans and flowing robes and then have their pictures taken in a student-designed sultan's tent. The display placed first for creativity, followed by exhibits from India and Thailand, which placed second and third, respectively. Yet another popular display was the Indonesian exhibit, which featured beautiful antique instruments.

As always, the food served during the evening was an eclectic mix. The Middle East and Thailand entries tied for first place in the food category, while India and Korea followed suit for second place. Pakistan and Turkey were knotted for third.

Highlights during the fashion and entertainment portion of the evening's program included a series of skits by the Chinese Students Association and poetry readings by several African students. Chinese students captured first place awards for both the fashion show and entertainment categories. Other fashion show awards went to Thailand in second place and Africa in third place. Meanwhile, second place entertainment awards went to Indonesia and third place awards were shared by Africa and Thailand.

Special recognition goes to the officers of the International Student Association for their efforts. They are: Raja Pochampally, president; Raimundo Marin, vice president; Timothy D'Souza, public relations; Adnan Siddiqi, treasurer; and Einat Appelbaum, secretary.

May Day 1993

A Rite of Spring

For UNH Students May Day is a rite of Spring. Once a year, in the beginning of May, the academic community of UNH puts down their books and leaves the classroom to play in the sun. 1993's festivities included the band 5 Gone Mad, a bungee run, a giant moon walk, caricature artists, and many happy students and faculty.

Finally, students selected for inclusion in "Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities" were honored as well.

Day Student Government Elections

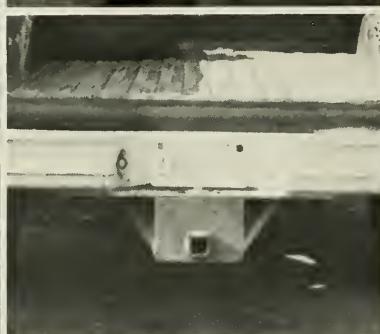

Each year the Day Student Government holds elections for the next year's officers. These elections are usually held during the first few weeks of May. This practice allows for a period of time during which the outgoing officers can train the incoming ones. This year there were three candidates for the position of president and one for the position of Treasurer.

The Day Student Government is the organization responsible for representing the undergraduate student body at UNH. The DSG is an integral organization with varied functions and activities.

The president, treasurer, 34 senators and student Board of Govenors representatives are elected by the student body in a general election. The vice-president, presidential assistant, and executive assistant are appointed by the president.

The day student activity fee paid by each undergraduate student is used to provide a number of social events including concerts, comedy nights, lectures, films, cultural events and other activities throughout the year which are open to the entire student body. The DSG is also responsible for overseeing all student media including the Charger Bulletin, a weekly newspaper, WNHU, the campus radio station, and The Chariot, the annual yearbook. Standing committees of the DSG provide students further opportunities for involvement. The DSG meets weekly, and all students are encouraged to become involved in its legislative and governing process.

Peer Mentors

The Peer Mentor program was new to the university this year. This group of students volunteered their time throughout the school year to help new students become more comfortable with their new surroundings. The goal of the peer mentors is to help incoming Freshmen have a pleasant transition from high school to college living and learning.

Issues '93

The U.S. Marines arrived in Somalia on December 9, 1992. The starving African country was ravaged by famine and widespread looting of food from international relief agencies. The Marines offered a security force to insure safe food distribution.

U.S. and allied aircraft attacked strategic targets in Iraq in early January. The first attack hit a nuclear complex near the capital city of Baghdad, followed by other strategic hits on Iraqi missile sites. Many of the U.S. aircraft that flew raids over Iraq were based on the USS Kitty Hawk.

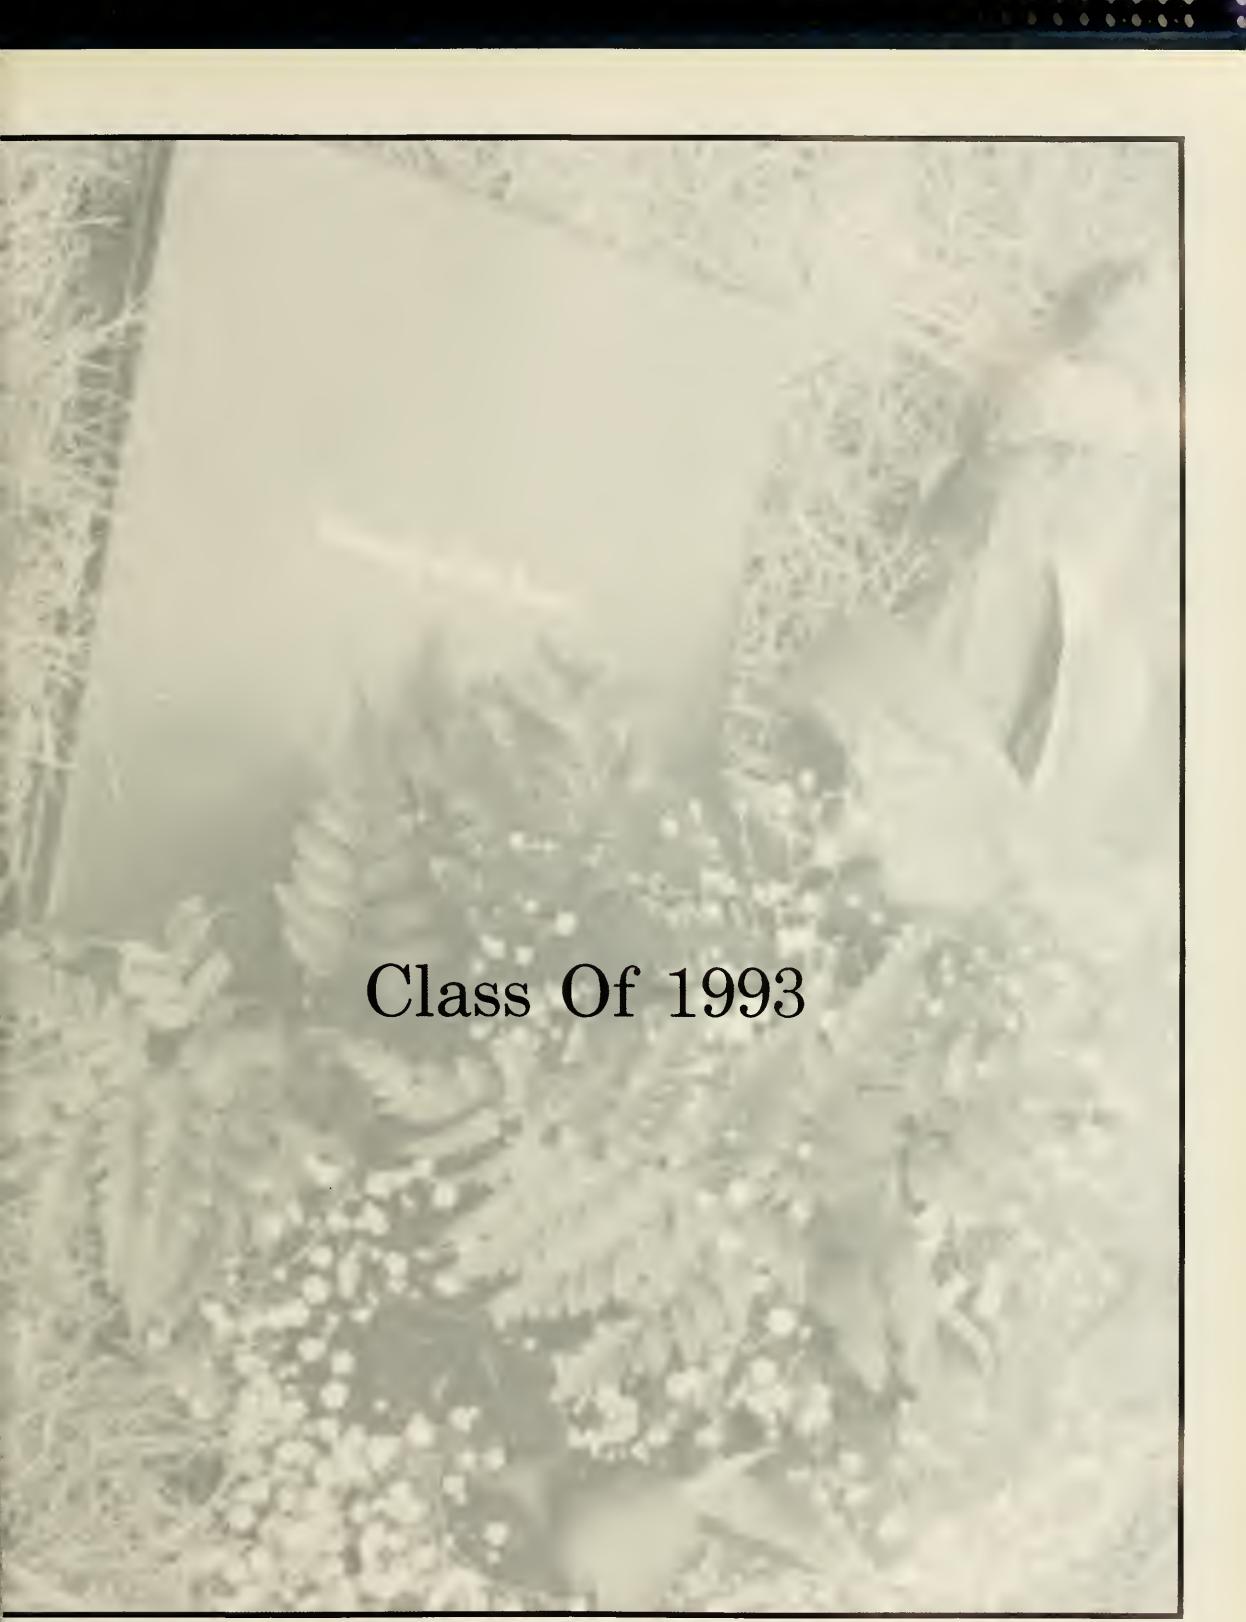

At noon on January 20, William Jefferson Clinton took the oath of office and became the 42nd president of the United States.

An oil tanker carrying nearly 25 million gallon of crude oil lost power and was blown onto the rugged coastline of the Bay of Qendale, 100 miles north of Aberdeen Scotland. The 100-island Shetlands group in the north of Aberdeen, Scotland. The 100-island Shetlands group in the North Sea is sparsely populated but abounds with birds, seals, fish and other wildlife.

As cannons thundered in salute, George Herbert Walker Bush surrendered power and stepped into history.

Senior Week

For the first time ever in the history of the University of New Haven graduating students were invited to attend Senior Week activities arranged by the Student Activities Office. For a small fee seniors were allowed to go on a trip to Cape Cod, ride in a horse drawn carriage, and attend a Senior Ball in the Student Center.

Commencement

United States Senator Joseph I. Lieberman (D-Connecticut), the principal speaker at the University's spring commencement exercises, held June 6 at 9:30 a.m. on Dodds Field, told the Class of 1993 to "take inspiration from the life of Robert F. Kennedy," the Senator and presidential candidate who was assassinated "exactly 25 years ago."

"Kennedy was a man of action," Lieberman said. "He challenged us not to be content with the status quo . . . I challenge you" to do the same to "make life better for yourselves, your family, your community."

Senator Lieberman also received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree during the ceremony. A resident of New Haven, he has spent more than 20 years in public life, having served as a state senator and majority leader of the upper chamber of the General Assembly, as Attorney General of the State of Connecticut, and, since 1988, as a member of the U.S. Senate. An attorney and author of several books, he has long championed consumer rights and environmental quality.

During commencement, approximately 572 students received associate's, bachelor's, master's or doctoral degrees. Of these, 350 were awarded undergraduate degrees, while 222 received graduate degrees.

Other participants in the commencement exercises included Cheever Tyler, chairman of the UNH Board of Governors, who presided over the ceremony, and Lawrence J. DeNardis, president of the university, who awarded the degrees and saluted both the graduates and their parents/loved ones, "whose support and belief in your students-and in the importance of higher education to their future-have led us to this moment."

Also on the stage were the deans of the university's several schools, who presented their respective degree candidates to the president and Edward J. Drew, Jr., '75, director of security at United Illuminating and head of the UNH Alumni Association, who welcomed the graduates into the alumni organization.

Following the commencement exercises, President and Mrs. DeNardis greeted the honorary degree recipients as well as the new graduates and their families at a reception on the university's athletic fields.

“Ads for Grads”

This winter all of the parents of the students with enough credits to graduate were invited to purchase advertisements in this book to wish their children well in the future.
